

Colorado Wildland Fire Conference: The True Cost of Wildfire

The Colorado Wildland Fire Conference: The True Cost of Wildfire ushered in a new era in wildland fire science and manager exchange on April 16th and 17th in Glenwood Springs, CO. The event was well attended by 160 attendees, staff, and speakers convening to explore variables of assessing costs in planning, managing, and conducting restoration involving wildfires. County commissioners, county and city managers, fire department officials, researchers, and municipal/agency personnel attended to hear recommendations, strategies and recent studies on the environmental, economic, and social effects of wildfire.

Articles on the Conference

- <http://www.aspendailynews.com/section/home/161880>
- <http://www.kmts.com/news/true-cost-of-wildfires-to-be-explored-at-colorado-wildland-fire-conference-in-glenwood-springs>
- <http://gazette.com/cities-now-struggling-from-past-fire-suppression-efforts/article/1518453>
- <http://gazette.com/colorado-wildfire-conference-a-chance-to-share-lessons-learned/article/1518326>
- <http://www.coloradoan.com/story/news/local/2014/04/17/economist-save-lives-wildfire-limit-live/7848743/>
- <http://www.gjsentinel.com/breaking/articles/conference-wildfire-costs-higher-than-realized>
- <http://gazette.com/colorado-wildfire-risk-predicted-worsen-unless-policies-change/article/1518373>
- <http://www.coloradoan.com/story/news/2014/04/16/high-park-fire-commander-info-key-wildfire-fight/7805535/>